

PARTNER: BALIKESIR UNIVERSITY

TEAM MEMBERS

Assoc. Prof. Dr Tuncay Sarıtaş is a professor of ICT at the Faculty of Education, Balıkesir University, Turkey. He is also the Director of the Center for Continuing Education (Lifelong Learning) and the Distance Education Research Center. He holds a Master's degree Instructional Systems Technology from Indiana University (U.S.A.), and a doctorate degree in Instructional Technology from Iowa State University (U.S.A.). He has been actively working as an expert and evaluator of European Union Projects (Centralized Projects) and The Scientific and Technological Research Council of Turkey. He is also a certified expert trainer for "training the trainers" about Project Cycle Management (PCM). His research includes ICT-enriched applications, and learning/training strategies, adult education, quality improvement and management in different training contexts, and creative strategies for professional development. He also lectures research methodology courses at a master's and doctoral level: Qualitative and Quantitative Research & Analysis Techniques with the use of computer software.

Dr. Burcu Güngör Cabbar is working at the department of Biology Education, Faculty of Education, Balıkesir University, Turkey. She is very much involved in environmental projects such as Green Pack (REC) Project that is a multimedia environmental education kit for use in teaching children aged between 11 and 15 about environmental protection and sustainable development. She worked as a coordinator of a local project that is an education program for k-12 about ecological footprint and renewable energy resources. She also took an active role as a deputy head of education department in TEMA (Turkish Foundation for Combating Soil Erosion, for Reforestation and the Protection of Natural Habits) by designing and developing training water education for teachers. She received various trainings on Ecology-Based Instructional Design. She has been giving environmental education voluntarily and professionally since 2006.

